

WIND, RAIN AND A GREAT FOG. FLOOD SWEEPS INTO ELMIRA.

For a Short Time the City Was Sunk in a Sea of Vapor.

Following the most remarkable rain storm in years, a great sea of fog swept over New York this morning and enveloped it, just as the water covers the city of London. The fog was dense and looking from the outside the city was a mass of white. The fog was so dense that the tops of the tall buildings were dimly visible. The fog was so dense that the tops of the tall buildings were dimly visible. The fog was so dense that the tops of the tall buildings were dimly visible.

The streets began to dry, the sky grew blue and the streets began to dry. The streets began to dry, the sky grew blue and the streets began to dry. The streets began to dry, the sky grew blue and the streets began to dry.

The Ramapo plotters, who have been working the water famine scare over time, are in a state of collapse. Their chief henchman is knocked out for the time, and so, too, are they.

At 1 o'clock this morning if the temperature had dropped to freezing New York would have had a roaring blizzard. At that hour it was showing up the State and Albany was getting the heaviest of it.

The total amount of rainfall in this city from 4 A. M. Saturday up to this morning, was 2.91 inches, two inches of which fell since 8 o'clock last night.

No reports were received this morning up to 10:30 from the southwestern portion of the country.

The storm which has been prevailing throughout the East since Saturday night is apparently centered this morning somewhere near Washington, D. C. It extends throughout nearly all the Atlantic States, and westward to the lower lake section and upper Ohio Valley.

The storm is attended by gale winds. In the city the wind velocity reached was at 1:30 this morning—41 miles.

The following telegram was received by the Western Union Telegraph Co. from Washington, D. C., today:

"Severe gales will shift to northwest on the Middle Atlantic coast, today and into the New England coast tonight. Dangerous southeast gales will shift to western coast of Newfoundland Tuesday."

The storm is attended by gale winds. In the city the wind velocity reached was at 1:30 this morning—41 miles.

The following telegram was received by the Western Union Telegraph Co. from Washington, D. C., today:

"Severe gales will shift to northwest on the Middle Atlantic coast, today and into the New England coast tonight. Dangerous southeast gales will shift to western coast of Newfoundland Tuesday."

The storm is attended by gale winds. In the city the wind velocity reached was at 1:30 this morning—41 miles.

The following telegram was received by the Western Union Telegraph Co. from Washington, D. C., today:

"Severe gales will shift to northwest on the Middle Atlantic coast, today and into the New England coast tonight. Dangerous southeast gales will shift to western coast of Newfoundland Tuesday."

The storm is attended by gale winds. In the city the wind velocity reached was at 1:30 this morning—41 miles.

The following telegram was received by the Western Union Telegraph Co. from Washington, D. C., today:

"Severe gales will shift to northwest on the Middle Atlantic coast, today and into the New England coast tonight. Dangerous southeast gales will shift to western coast of Newfoundland Tuesday."

The storm is attended by gale winds. In the city the wind velocity reached was at 1:30 this morning—41 miles.

The following telegram was received by the Western Union Telegraph Co. from Washington, D. C., today:

"Severe gales will shift to northwest on the Middle Atlantic coast, today and into the New England coast tonight. Dangerous southeast gales will shift to western coast of Newfoundland Tuesday."

The storm is attended by gale winds. In the city the wind velocity reached was at 1:30 this morning—41 miles.

The following telegram was received by the Western Union Telegraph Co. from Washington, D. C., today:

"Severe gales will shift to northwest on the Middle Atlantic coast, today and into the New England coast tonight. Dangerous southeast gales will shift to western coast of Newfoundland Tuesday."

The storm is attended by gale winds. In the city the wind velocity reached was at 1:30 this morning—41 miles.

The following telegram was received by the Western Union Telegraph Co. from Washington, D. C., today:

"Severe gales will shift to northwest on the Middle Atlantic coast, today and into the New England coast tonight. Dangerous southeast gales will shift to western coast of Newfoundland Tuesday."

The storm is attended by gale winds. In the city the wind velocity reached was at 1:30 this morning—41 miles.

The following telegram was received by the Western Union Telegraph Co. from Washington, D. C., today:

"Severe gales will shift to northwest on the Middle Atlantic coast, today and into the New England coast tonight. Dangerous southeast gales will shift to western coast of Newfoundland Tuesday."

The storm is attended by gale winds. In the city the wind velocity reached was at 1:30 this morning—41 miles.

The following telegram was received by the Western Union Telegraph Co. from Washington, D. C., today:

"Severe gales will shift to northwest on the Middle Atlantic coast, today and into the New England coast tonight. Dangerous southeast gales will shift to western coast of Newfoundland Tuesday."

The storm is attended by gale winds. In the city the wind velocity reached was at 1:30 this morning—41 miles.

MOROSINI'S SON ELOPES WITH WASHINGTON'S GRANDNIECE.

Despite His Millionaire Father's Stern Opposition He Made a Runaway Match with the Fair Society Belle.

rumors that there had been a secret wedding. Three weeks ago, say intimates of the younger son of the millionaire banker, the runaways were to Jersey City, where Morosini enjoyed the friendship of an Italian priest who he thought would be willing to marry him. To his surprise, the clergyman, who was a dear friend of his father, declined to do so without the elder Morosini's consent when he learned that the young lady was a Protestant.

Nothing daunted, he sought out another priest and succeeded in having the ceremony performed. The young man has not since returned to the Morosini mansion at Riverdale. He has been at his desk in the New York Central office, where he occupies a position of trust.

Elder Brother's Protest. Giovanni Morosini, his elder brother, said today that he had been annoyed by being confounded with his brother. "Please say for me that I have not run off and got married. I really don't care to say anything about Alito until father gives out a statement."

Miss Bond was admittedly one of the most beautiful women in New York society. She enjoyed the distinction of being a great-granddaughter of George Washington and a granddaughter of that sprightly of White House beauties, Betty Madison. She has been prominent in fashionable life for several seasons.

Bole of the Ball. Last Winter at the Charity Ball she was the recognized belle. Young Morosini saw her and was bewitched by her beauty. He tearfully sought an introduction and became thereafter her devoted attendant.

Her Girlhood Home. In her girlhood she lived in the Washington ancestral home at Mount Vernon. Her father, George Washington Morosini, was a member of the same family.

My Daughter and the Duke. "My daughter has always taken an active interest in the work of the church. Her mother was a member of the same church."

He Doesn't Blame the Duke. "I don't know a thing about that," he said in a bluff, hearty fashion. "Like most young men, I suppose, he was fond of a good time and he has had it. A man can hardly be expected to have a good time, can he?"

Restaurant Man a Suicide. Joseph Lachmann, a bachelor forty years of age, who kept a restaurant at 11 Howard street, was found dead this morning at his place of business.

Marriage Was a Surprise. "Well, it was a slight surprise—that is, their taking things into their own hands. I knew they were engaged and that they were soon to be married. My daughter went abroad with her aunt, Miss Helena Evans, three months ago. I intended to go with her but could not get away. Then they called me notifying me of the engagement and asking me to come to Cincinnati and ask the young couple to come to Cincinnati and ask the young couple to come to Cincinnati."

CHICKEN COOP FOR STARVING BOYS.

Prof. William E. Duffy, a Modern Squeers, Kept a Dotheboys Hall in Tuckahoe.

Judge William C. Kellogg will give another hearing at Yonkers to-morrow in the case of William E. Duffy, the head of a boarding-school for boys at Tuckahoe, who was arrested this year on charges of keeping a dotheboys hall.

"I was at the school the longest of any of the boys—a year and three months. Mousert was only there a month; Norman three months and Galloway four months. School opened this year on July 15. My people had to pay $15 a month."

"Duffy whipped us often, and would never let a boy home except on a holiday. At least two days a week he would go to New York, and one week not long ago he went every day. He would leave slices of bread and some meat for us in a bag. When he went away he always had a basket under his arm. If he did not come back at night we had to sleep where we could. We always went into the chicken-coop."

According to the boys' stories they ate when they could and not when they would, and they were put to shifts for food that would have made Mousert blush.

They made their own beds, for the Professor had a habit of going to town and getting back late. At such times he took the precaution of locking the house for fear, perhaps, that the students would sneak in the back and leave the chickens without company.

When an Evening World reporter saw the professor he deprecated the publicity attendant on the exposure of the new education and the "best care and instruction" advertised in his circulars. He said, with some asperity, that the boys needed morning and afternoon.

Prof. Duffy explained that it was impossible to furnish for $15 a month a corps of professors, sidestown quilts and terrapin. He explained that he had been teaching for twenty years.

Robbed, Then Fined, Too. Tripp, a young man, was arrested by a highwayman and robbed of $100. Tripp, of One Hundred and Sixty-fifth street and Calvary avenue, was today fined $5 by Magistrate Mott.

Significant at this action, Tripp offered to go on the bond of the man who robbed him. Mr. Tripp came out of a liquor store near his home late last night. As he was crossing the street a neighbor saw him and called out to him. He was holding him up and going through his pockets.

Detective Hueser was called and arrested both Tripp and the highwayman. Tripp, a young man, was arrested by a highwayman and robbed of $100. Tripp, of One Hundred and Sixty-fifth street and Calvary avenue, was today fined $5 by Magistrate Mott.

Boy Strangely Shot. James Mackin, Jr., Dying, Denies that He Wounded Himself. (Special to The Evening World.)

WINNETT, Conn., Nov. 26.—James Mackin, Jr., a thirteen-year-old boy, was found fatally shot through the head in an ice house at Ashley Falls, Mass., eighteen miles from New Britain, Conn. A thirty-two calibre revolver was found near him.

The boy's right eye is destroyed and the left eye is badly injured. The bullet entered the brain. How the shooting occurred is a mystery.

Discovered in One, He Ultimately Breaks into Adjoining House. The burglar who entered 214 and 216 Lenox avenue this morning was so surprised to find his task so easy that he failed to take much silver plate from one house and in the other left money and valuable jewelry.

He was first discovered in 216 and rushed by the servant to the yard and disappeared. The servant went out to look for a policeman, but did not find one. Then the burglar, who wanted to see how the police would handle him, calmly entered the house next door.

He entered the room of Miss Whitcomb on the third floor and calmly packed all the drawers and secured some jewelry and what money she had. He then descended to the room of Miss Rowe on the first floor, and took a blue box and a fur collar. There was a cash box in the room, but he overlooked it. In the two houses were sixteen persons asleep and he must have hypnotized the watchmen, for it gave no indication that an intruder was about.

New Vicar-General Named. Rev. John H. Fox to Succeed the Late Mr. Moran. Bishop McPaul, of the Catholic Diocese of Trenton, N. J., today announced the appointment of Rev. John H. Fox as Vicar-General of the diocese to succeed the late Monsignor Moran, of Princeton.

ABOUT HEART DISEASE.

Ninety Per Cent. of It Really Complicated Poor Digestion. Real organic heart trouble is uncommon, but scarcely one case in a hundred is so simple.

The action of the heart and stomach are both controlled by the same great nervous system, the sympathetic and pneumogastric, and when the stomach fails to properly digest the food and it lies in the stomach fermenting, gases are formed which distend the organ, causing pressure on the heart and lungs, causing palpitation, irregularity and shortness of breath.

The danger from this condition is that the continued disturbance of the heart sooner or later may cause real organic heart trouble, and, in fact, frequently does so. Furthermore, poor digestion makes the blood thin and watery and deficient in red corpuscles, and this further irritates and weakens the heart.

The most sensible thing to do for heart trouble is to insure the digestion and assimilation of the food. This can be done by the regular use of food digesting pills, pleasant and effective digestive preparation like Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, which may be found at most drug stores and which contain the necessary digestive elements in a pleasant, convenient form.

Thousands of people keep well and vigorous by keeping their digestion perfect by observing the rule of taking one or two of these tablets after each meal, or at least after each hearty meal.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets contain U. S. P. pepsin, diastase from malt, and other natural digestive which act only on the food, digesting it perfectly and preventing acidity, gases and the many distressing conditions which accompany a weak stomach.

When Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are used you may know you are not taking into your system any strong medicine or powerful drug, but simply the natural digestive elements which every weak stomach lacks.

So widely known and popular have these tablets become that they are now sold in United States, Canada and Great Britain.

THE COWARD "Good Sense" Shoe

For Children's
Is really the only shoe a should wear. Makes ill-fitting shoes impossible. Strengthens, protects, corrects, and improves. Wears long. Longest costs no more than other well-made shoes; and without question is something every mother ought to see. If you can't come in, at least

SEND FOR CATALOGUE.
"Don't Be Misled."
JAMES S. COWARD,
266-272 Greenwich St., near Warren St., N.Y.
Cannot Be Had Elsewhere.

WATCH CHAINS

We are now displaying the many new designs in Solid 14kt. Gold Vest Chains. Guard Chains and Watch Fobs we have prepared for the holidays. They all recommend themselves for their superior weight, quality and finish.

LADIES' GUARD CHAINS. For Watches, Lorgnettes and Purses. Link designs from 7.50 to $5.00. With diamond slides from 15.00 to 100.00. GENTLEMEN'S VEST CHAINS. Plain links of fancy designs, 5.50 to 50.00. Silk Watch Fobs, gold mounted, 4.50 to 35.00. Lockets and Charms, 3.50 to 100.00.

A. Frankfield & Co.
Jewellers and Importers,
52 WEST 14TH ST.

Piles

No cutting; book free; 1,000 cures; city references. Dr. Chapman, 197 West 23d St.

Put your sign where it will be seen by the million.